

HIGHLIGHTS

FRED VIGEANT
Vice President &
Chief Audience Officer

We're dipping into the Ken Burns archives this month to encore a few titles you may have missed or will appreciate viewing again. We'll start off with a two-part documentary from 1997 that explores a scholar, philosopher, diplomat, architect and Founding Father. Ken Burns' account of our nation's third president, Thomas Jefferson, will broadcast over two consecutive Fridays, January 31 and February 7, at 9pm.

We'll continue the Ken Burns showcase the following Friday, February 14, with two classic documentaries, The Statue of Liberty and The Congress, beginning at 9pm.

We'll also rebroadcast The Vietnam War this spring — the first time we've run this 10-part Ken Burns series since its premiere in 2017. Check out WITF Passport to stream a nearly complete collection of Ken Burns' work.

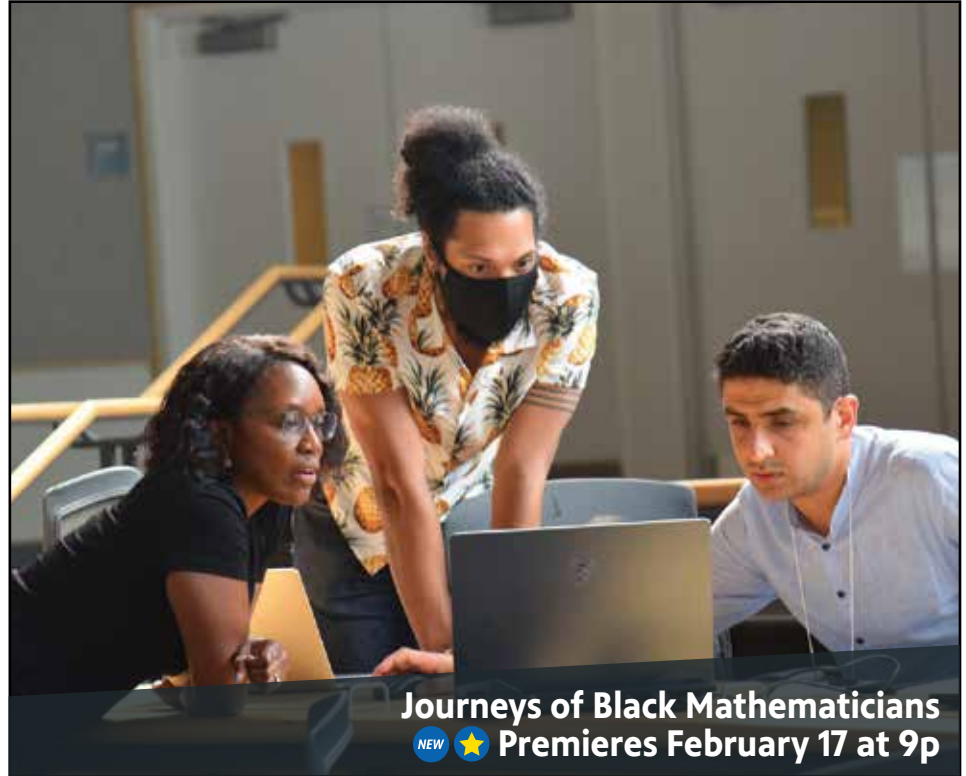

In recognition of Black History Month, I want to draw your attention to Journeys of Black Mathematicians, a brand-new documentary that will premiere across two Mondays at 9pm, beginning February 17.

The film traces the evolution of a culture of Black scholars, scientists, and educators, from the early pioneers to their mathematical descendants, who are still learning that they belong in STEM.

You'll meet extraordinary exemplars from the early and mid-20th century who prepared the way for several of the trailblazers highlighted in the series. You can stream Journeys of Black Mathematicians through WITF Passport, too.

While it's not time to say farewell to winter quite yet, we will see many of our winter dramas end this month (and one on March 1).

Seaside Hotel's 9th season, which premieres on WITF TV Thursdays at 10pm starting

Journeys of Black Mathematicians
NEW ★ Premieres February 17 at 9p

February 6, concludes in early March. A 10th season, which you can currently stream using WITF Passport, should be released for broadcast later this year.

And while we will say goodbye to our friends in the Yorkshire Dales on February 23, don't fret. A sixth season of All Creatures Great and Small is in the works for a premiere next year.

Season 13 of Death in Paradise concludes on March 1 but we expect a new set of episodes to come our way later this year.

At the time I'm writing this article, I do not have renewal news for Miss Scarlet or Funny Woman.

All these goodbyes only set the stage for us to pivot to our springtime collection of dramas and mysteries this March. I've heard from many of you seeking more Brokenwood Mysteries. The first two seasons of this New Zealand import premiered on WITF TV in late 2023, and I just signed the deal to bring seasons 3 and 4 to the schedule in March. That mystery joins other new seasons of Wolf Hall, Call the Midwife and Marie Antoinette.

Last March, a cargo ship struck the Francis Scott Key Bridge in Maryland. This collision caused the entire bridge to collapse and led to the death of six members of a maintenance crew who were working on the bridge.

On February 26 at 9pm, NOVA premieres Baltimore Bridge Collapse, which investigates how the ship lost control, the catastrophic collapse of this crucial link in the Baltimore Beltway, and the rescue and recovery effort.

I'll have more news for you in March. Until then, stay cozy and enjoy the rest of your winter programming!

Experience The Four Phantoms in Concert!

Enjoy this spectacular show with four former Phantoms at the Whitaker Center on March 28! Make your gift of support to WITF and choose the tickets as a thank-you gift at witf.org/ticketinfo.
